PHILADELPHIA – A fixture on the local traditional jazz scene, the seven-piece Atlantic City Jazz Band will play live as part of Tri-State Jazz Society's concert series at Haddonfield United Methodist Church, 29 Warwick Road, Haddonfield, NJ on Sunday, July 24th, at 2:00 p.m. The authentic "tuba and banjo" ensemble specializes in the music that swept the nation when the first jazz recordings were issued in 1917 but their repertoire also includes numbers by the skilled Tin Pan Alley composers who dominated music through the 1930s and beyond, pieces from Scott Joplin and Jelly Roll Morton rags, as well as, pop tunes of the jazz era by George Gershwin, Irving Berlin, Harold Arlen and Johnny Mercer.

Half-price admission of $10, payable at the door, is available for first-time attendees and members; general admission is $20; full-time students with IDs and children are free. There are no advance sales or reservations. The church is about 15 minutes from central Philadelphia via the Ben Franklin Bridge and parking is free. PATCO is nearby. For information see www.tristatejazz.org or call (856) 720-0232.

About Tri-State Jazz Society

Tri-State Jazz Society, formed in 1988, is dedicated to the preservation and live performance of early jazz, including traditional New Orleans, Dixieland, swing, ragtime, stride piano and boogie-woogie. The society's concerts feature leading professional small bands and soloists. All events are open to the public and anyone who enjoys traditional jazz is invited to join. Monthly concerts are presented in Wallingford, PA and Haddonfield, NJ to serve the entire Delaware Valley. Tri-State Jazz Society is a non-profit educational corporation supported by its members.
