OUR NEXT CONCERT
Larry Toft’s Red Hot Ramblers
Sunday, August 22, 2021, 2:00 to 4:30 pm
A concert INDOORS at the Community Arts Center, Wallingford PA and a Live Stream Event on Facebook and YouTube

The Community Arts Center requires guests to wear masks to attend this full-capacity indoor concert. Please be prepared to show proof of vaccination for admission. If this presents a problem, please consider enjoying the concert remotely, watching the live webcast on our YouTube channel, Facebook page, or the Tri-State Jazz website.

The Red Hot Ramblers are an authentic 1920s jazz ensemble in every way. They exemplify red-hot syncopation, stompin' rhythms, and lyrical melodies associated with the Jazz Age. The repertoire can extend before and after the 1920s from the early years in Jazz, such as New Orleans Style and Ragtime, up to the swing era of the 1930s and 40s and even into the modern Second Line New Orleans parade style. The Red Hot Ramblers have been pleasing audiences in every type of venue, from concert halls to dimly-lit bars to swing dances to outdoor events/weddings. Welcome them on their return to Tri-State, to recreate their success with us from November 2017.

LOOKING AHEAD TO OUR SEPTEMBER CONCERT
Adam Swanson
Sunday, September 19, 2021 at 2pm

Adam Swanson is one of the world’s foremost performers of vintage American popular music, including ragtime, early jazz, the Great American Songbook, and more. He holds a bachelor’s in classical piano and a master’s in musicology from the Peabody Conservatory of Johns Hopkins University.

Although he is only twenty-seven years old, Adam has been a featured performer and lecturer at ragtime and jazz festivals across the United States, and he is the only four-time winner of the World Championship Old-Time Piano Playing Contest. In 2007, he appeared alongside John Arpin at the Bohem Ragtime and Jazz Festival in the Republic of Hungary and has also toured Switzerland and Australia. Adam made his New York debut in Carnegie Hall at the age of nineteen, where he performed with Michael Feinstein. Adam has accompanied silent films at the prestigious Cinecon Classic Film Festival at the Egyptian Theatre in Hollywood and played privately for noted Disney/Hollywood composer Richard M. Sherman (Mary Poppins, etc.). In 2013, Adam made his first appearance at the Kennedy Center Millennium Stage in Washington, D.C.

Adam enjoys working with other musicians and has recorded albums with pianist Frederick Hodges, former rock star Ian Whitcomb, and legendary 1950s recording artist Johnny Maddox, who was one of Adam’s greatest influences. Adam’s recordings have been used on the CBC-TV (Canada) show Murdoch Mysteries, and he frequently performs in the Diamond Belle Saloon at the Historic Strater Hotel in his hometown of Durango, Colorado.

A year of a pandemic makes one appreciate the simple pleasure of attending a live jazz concert. True, we have had some outdoor concerts in recent months, but speaking on my own, Sunday’s concert with the Midiri Brothers Sextet was like revisiting the “old” normal. It was nice setting up my camera, taking notes on my legal pad, and seeing a live band and audience at CAC, and not in cubes in cyberspace. The Midiri Brothers Sextet provided the excellent musicianship as it always had. Joe Midiri is never less than excellent on any of the reeds he brings to live performances. Brother Paul is an outstanding mallet-ist (is there such a word?) and very capable drummer. Complimenting to the two are pianist Joe Holt, whose unique approach to the keyboard is worth the price admission alone, but you also have a rhythm section of guitarist Pat Mercuri, bassist Jack Hegyi and drummer, the always beaming Jim Lawlor. With personnel like that, you know you are in Swing City.

The band kicked off with a number I can only associate with the King of Swing, “Close Your Eyes.” Goodman recorded the song during a live performance in Tokyo in 1964. Joe Midiri adds a Goodmanesque riff – a repetitive three note vamp going up the scale. Paul Midiri provides some nice Norvo runs in his solo, Joe Holt sneaks in a quote from “Six Appeal” then goes on a tear with a mix of music.
stride and soulful chord clusters, Pat Mercuri plays a rather Tatumish guitar solo, not reminiscent of the former’s lightning-fast arpeggios but in his manner of changing course several times during a solo. This all lead up to a minor riff which borrows the first few measures of “That Da Da Strain.”

The following number “Because of You” was noteworthy for the Shearing Quintet unison chorus of Holt’s piano, Mercuri’s guitar and Paul Midiri’s vibes. Then, the first of several swing numbers, Edgar Sampson’s “Blue Lou” is given a BG sextet treatment, with Joe Midiri taking off once the melody concludes, Paul Midiri is gymnastic on the vibes, Mercuri swings with short, clipped notes, and Holt, equally energetic on the keyboard. The number closes with short Lawlor drum solos.

One of the highlights of the concert, Juan Tizol’s “Gypsy Without A Song” has Midiri performing the melody subtone a la Barney Bigard. The sextet captures Ellington’s tone colors without the benefit of a big band – Midiri’s clarinet and soprano solos are expressive, wailing, pleading. Holt and Paul Midiri provide sympathetic support, but Joe Midiri’s performance stands out. A gem.

“What A Dream,” a Sidney Bechet composition, is straight ahead swing. Joe Midiri’s soprano solo would make the master proud, Paul Midiri gets into a Hampton groove. After a swing riff which allows opportunity for Hegyi and Lawlor brief breaks, Joe Midiri leads the charge in an outstanding ride out chorus. In keeping with the dream theme, Sigmund Romberg’s “When I Grow Too Old To Dream” makes Joe Holt an active dreamer, right hand up and down the keyboard; Pat Mercuri sleeps lightly in his guitar solo; Paul Midiri a short sleeper in his short solo; leading up to Joe Midiri, who seems to enjoy a good night’s sleep, for his clarinet enjoys the dreamlike surroundings. No insomnia here.

The first set closed with a high-octane swinger, “Limehouse Blues.” This version was notable for Joe Midiri’s quoting the Nutcracker Suite at the close of his solo.
Set number two opened with a trio of the two Midiris (Paul on drums) and Joe Holt. “Oh, Lady Be Good” swings in an unusual way. You can hear hints of the Goodman Trio, but this trio brings out qualities in the Gershwin’s tune that one might not expect – Joe Holt’s rocking two choruses, heavy swinging left hand, incorporating boogie woogie, gradually segueing into two-fisted stride. Joe Midiri’s clarinet, while giving a few nods to the King of Swing, is full of experimental ideas. A key change in the final chorus accelerates the tension and brings the performance to an exciting conclusion.

“Polka Dots and Moonbeams” and “Who’s Sorry Now?” were showcases for Joe Midiri’s alto sax, as was “That Old Gang of Mine,” a vehicle of Joe’s roaringly raunchy tenor. As for the other players, Holt and Paul Midiri seem to have fun with their solos on “Who’s Sorry...” while providing tender support on “Moonbeams.”

The surprise of the afternoon was the South American “Tico Tico.” This departure from the swingers, good though they are, inspired the band as a whole (Jim Lawlor has a whale of a time on this one) and in its enticing solos from both Midiris, Holt and Mercuri make this reviewer wish for more pleasant surprises like this one.

“Stand Up For Jesus” brought a cascade of stride piano from Joe Holt, and if one could compare tapdancing to a mallet instrument, that is the best way to describe Paul Midiri’s here, for his mallets seem to fall in perfect synchronization to tap steps. Pat Mercuri swings with the least amount of string picking, proving once again less is more. By the time Joe Midiri takes the spotlight, it is an all-out swinger.

The concert ended with an up-tempo version of “Yours Is My Heart Alone.” For the trivia experts, it was Dennis Day’s theme song. I remember the Benny Goodman- Helen Forrest recording but I digress. Like most of their performances in the past, this one did not disappoint. A nice way to enter the new normal.
This Month in Recorded Jazz History
By Jim McGann
